

Enrol for a new career

MUMS looking to get back into the workforce could enrol at Coomera College of Business and Industry Training (CCBIT).

The college is an initiative of Coomera Anglican College and enjoys the full facilities and resources of the parent college.

Students can gain nationally recognised qualifications in childcare and tourism.

Those who are represented by an employment services provider such as Mission Australia, Sarina Russo or Employment Plus and are not currently studying elsewhere may be eligible for a free course at CCBIT.

Get back into the workforce

Final approval and registration will be decided by the Department of Education, Employment and Workplace Relations.
